

What is wrong with our society and why aren’t we fixing it?

Imagine a world at peace! One where the Military Industrial Complex is no longer building “Sticks and Stones” to hurt people. A world based on Humanitarian beliefs like “Respect for the individual”. Where people “Strive to achieve excellence in everything they do”. Utopian? Maybe. Achievable? Certainly.

If we have it within us to do better for humanity and the family of man, then why aren’t we doing the things needed to achieve global stabilization and happiness? Am I naive, or is the world that callous?

If we can spend $6,000,000,000 (yes $6 Trillion dollars) conducting a war in Iraq and Afghanistan, where we achieved nothing positive, but left death and destruction behind, what have we gained? Did we improve the lifestyles of anybody? Did we foster good will? No, what we did was destroy civilizations and societies, for what? Why do we think we have the right to change governments through “Country Building” without being asked by the people of that country? What justification do we have for turning a beautiful town into a pile of rubble? Why are we criticizing government leaders without proof being provided to the people - like the Clinton campaign does by saying that the Wiki Leaks are the fault of Russian hackers stealing the emails, instead of apologizing for their content and meaning?

Yet too many people are being led like sheep to the slaughter, and they don’t even seem to realize it. Why?

Maybe it is because people have given up believing their voice has a meaning because nobody listens to them anyway. Maybe our political leaders are too hard to contact and they don’t provide an easy means for their constituents to supply comments and recommendations for improvement, because they don’t want to be bothered by sniveling insects like us..... Well this is one sniveling insect whose voice will be heard and I encourage everybody to join in the conversation.

Imagine this:

Imagine listening to the prioritized desires of the “People of the World” and build a future based on “Trust and Faith”. I know it may sound like a weird and unachievable concept to some, but it is a concept that has been around from the beginning of mankind, we simply forgot it (or were driven to stop believing in it). I still believe that we can do better and this may be a way to achieve our goals.

First, we must stop spending so much money destroying things and start spending more money on building and improving things, like: infrastructure, health care, cleaning up the environment, preparing for the increase in populations, and especially in providing jobs to those who need to support their families in an honorable manner.

Second, we must develop and implement a fair and honest election system that is based on “One Person – One Vote” and is capable of detecting Fraud and Corruption. This system should be rapid, easy to use, accessible to all, paperless, and un-corruptible (ask me about my electronic voting system).

Citizens should have a means to connect to the government and private business whenever their personal identity is in jeopardy, so that they have a voice in safeguarding their reputation and the family that depends on them. People should never be allowed to be manipulated by governments again, and especially by greedy and corrupt individuals who have no compassion and will make money from the suffering of people in the poorest countries in the world, or through collusion with politicians in positions of power (think Clinton’s in Haiti, or Soros everywhere).

Thirdly, we must get rid of the “Bad Guys” (Country Leaders, Cartels, Terrorist Groups, etc.). Once these bad actors are gone, our world-wide society will live in less fear and a reduced reliance on the Military Industrial Complex.

The problem with “Sticks and Stones” exploited by the Military Industrial Complex.

There was a show on TV called Dinosaurs in which the male parent dinosaur asked his boss at the “Sticks” factory why they were changing production to “Stones”. His boss replied that once it is known that people with “Sticks” could be hit by “Stones” long before they are in range of using their “Sticks”, they would be eager to spend their money buying “Stones” and he would become rich from the misery of others. This concept applies to bullets and bombs as well.

Conclusion

I cannot believe people are still allowing themselves to be manipulated and I have grown very tired of being subjected to those in power who simply do not care about me or anyone else but themselves and their inner circle of cronies. Let’s do something about this, by getting together and letting all those in power (including the media) know what we think of the Status Quo. It will take the combined voice of the people to be loud enough for them to hear, and remember they work for us and we can fire them if they fail to deliver. Be the boss and get rid of those that do not move in a positive direction. It’s hard enough to succeed without having to carry an anchor around your neck.

Today, we have the media and congress doing almost everything they can to stop the progress that the Trump agenda is looking to achieve, like better healthcare, improved infrastructure, a stronger military, more jobs, and tax reform. They seem to think it better to protest everything associated with Trump at the expense of the common citizen. Why do we have to fight opposition from within, when everyone knows that we need the benefits that can be achieved by Trumps agenda. You are entitled to your own political opinion in the United States, and I support that, but why is your opinion greater than the good of the people. Stop these road blocks and allow the USA to grow in a positive direction and take better care of its people. Why not show that you too are true Americans, and not puppets being manipulate by the “Stone Makers”.

Should you believe in this as strongly as I do, then share this White Paper and take some action by contacting your friends and your representatives. We can change things working together, but as individual’s we are bound to fail. A house divided cannot stand, nor can a civilization.
